Chair Message

Dear Members & Partners,

As 2023 draws to an end, we find ourselves reflecting on the year's successes, challenges, and the immense work that still lies ahead. It's a moment to be thankful for our community, beneficiaries and supporters, who have steadfastly joined hands with us at PROFOH, in our mission to ensure life-saving surgeries and treatments, education, training, potable water, climate sustainability and poverty reduction activities. While 2023 can be seen as a difficult year for countless communities globally, that were stricken by conflict, disaster, hunger and disease, PROFOH's steady and unwavering interventions in collaboration with partners in providing quality health care, education and training, safe drinking water, have impacted our beneficiaries, so that we conducted more than 600 surgeries in Nigeria and Egypt, saw 22,197 patients who received consultations and treatments, in addition to several non-medical interventions in Ghana, Sierra Leone, Uganda, Nepal, and other countries.

This year, PROFOH got incorporated in the United Kingdom, so that our flag is now flying at full mast in Great Britain, with long-standing relationships and collaboration with the Commonwealth Foundation through several Commonwealth Head of Government Meetings (CHOGM) in December 2003. Activities range from the Tolerance Summit, in support of the Royal Commonwealth Society covering schools in Nigeria and Ghana competition participation, 2009 to an official invitation to the United Kingdom Open Government Summit, 2010 and most recently the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU), with the United Kingdom International Health Care Management Association (UKIHMA) and the British Integrated Solutions Export Network (BISEN), two leading UK organizations partners of HM Government.

As Chair, I can confirm that our Board was very proud to have participated at COP 28 in the United Arab Emirates. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), climate change is directly contributing to humanitarian emergencies from heatwaves, wildfires, floods, tropical storms and hurricanes and they are increasing in scale, frequency and intensity. Research shows that 3.6 billion people already live in areas that are highly susceptible to climate change. Between 2030 and 2050, climate change is expected to cause approximately 250,000 additional deaths per year, arising from under-nutrition, malaria, diarrhea and heat stress alone, aggravated by weak health infrastructure – mostly in developing countries.

Our organization supported the COP28 UAE Declaration on Climate and Health that promotes a comprehensive response to address the adversities of climate change on health, including mental health and psychosocial wellbeing, loss of traditional medicinal knowledge, loss of livelihoods and culture. In its Declaration, it focuses on the inclusion of local communities, women and girls, children and youth, healthcare workers and practitioners, persons with disabilities (PWDs) and the most vulnerable and marginalized.

Once again, I thank all our partners including World Health Organization (WHO), Stop TB Partnership (Stop TB), Switzerland; Social Leaders Society (SLS), Egypt; United Kingdom International Health Management Association (UKIHMA), UK; British Integrated Solutions Export Network (BISEN), UK; State Clinical Translational Scientific Research; United Nations Office and Drugs and Crime, Austria (UNODC); and the European Center for Leadership and Entrepreneurship Education (ECLEE), France for their continued support to PROFOH's work. I look forward to continuing our journey to deliver quality health care and human development for all. We, at PROFOH wish you all Happy Holidays and a Happy New Year!

God bless you all!

Reem N Bsaiso (Chair)

Executive Director's Message

Dear Members & Supporters,

I'm very proud to share with you this year PROFOH'S ANNUAL REPORT which focuses on some challenges and victories we faced in 2023, as our commitment to reduce diseases and surgical burdens remains unshakable while fighting to preserve the lives of those individuals and communities most severely affected by diseases, lack of safe potable water, education and non-prudent policies that prolong these adversities.

For more than a quarter of a century, our organization has kept the flame of giving and supporting burning, this year, we postponed several Medical Missions due to the unavailability of funds, however, there were remarkable achievements and visibility especially on the international scene, as PROFOH physically attended several high-level United Nations (UN) events, such as: the UN Stakeholder Meetings, UN High-Level Meetings, Arab Health Fair, COP/28, COSP/10 and many other online meetings and events, for many years, PROFOH is also an accredited/affiliated organization with the United Nations on OSAA, OEWG Ageing.

This year, PROFOH advanced its strategic partnership with some of its members, notably the United Kingdom International Health Management Association (UKIHMA) British Integrated Solutions Export Network (BISEN). Notably, also PROFOH and UKIHMA/BISEN held several days of talks in London, where parties affirmed their commitment to support international healthcare delivery globally.

In the coming years, PROFOH shall scale up its interventions in disparities associated with out-of-pocket (OOP) health care spending across communities we serve, to help elevate poverty. At the UN High Level Meeting in September, New York, PROFOH made a commitment to globally scale-up its Socialized Medicine Program -i.e. free medical missions, knowing that significant gains in poverty reduction are achieved when vulnerable populations are exempted from paying OOP when seeking health care. This is a huge challenge, needing your ongoing support to PROFOH to enable us to reduce it to the barest minimum. Notwithstanding, we have a scheduled medical mission to Cameroon Q2 of 2024 in collaboration with our value-added partner: the European Center for Leadership and Entrepreneurship Education (ECLÉE).

With the permission of the Board, several milestones were achieved. PROFOH has been incorporated in the United Kingdom, and also PROFOH Ghana was re-certified by the government of Ghana after 13 years of its incorporation, several MOUs were signed in the United Arab Emirates, Ghana, India, and France. Our 2024 directions aim to accelerate social research by driving innovative solutions through our core mandates on health, education, safe potable water, poverty reduction, climate sustainability and most importantly, impacting the shaping of Policies.

In conclusion, if we were to assume for a minute that PROFOH's activities 2023 were a movie, then it would be appropriate to say that production is attributed to Chair Reem and her Board, Members and Volunteers for their dedication, in addition to our strategic partners (alphabetically) A2Z Universals, BISEN, ECLÉE, ESF, MMI, SCTSR, SLS, STOP TB, UKIHMA, UNODC, WHO and many others, for their continued support of PROFOH's work. We look forward to continuing our journey towards quality health care, and human development for all.

With deep gratitude,

Dr. Gemuotor Kama,
Executive Director

SELECTED HIGHLIGHTS AT A GLANCE

PROFOH/CZECH REPUBLIC GROUP PROPOSED TRAINING EXCHANGE PROGRAM

Most of the communities we serve are in the developing world, they are facing many challenges, for several years now PROFOH has been receiving passionate appeals for some of these communities for training in developed countries, two groups in Prague public and private sector. For PROFOH, this mentorship exchange program is not about predicting the future of these communities; rather it is about initiating a process of community awakening and the enhancements of technical knowledge in public health delivery, some low-level technology transfer from EUROPE to Africa. Surely it will reduce poverty activities and promote Education, Safe Drinking Water, and Climate sustainability. This call for action focuses on what we can do to start strengthening our bilateral relationships between North and South, as we all know the people-to-people relationship is the best. Currently, we are working on details, the role of PROFOH as Facilitators, the Objectives of the program, training Deliverables and service architecture, traineeship and advantages of traineeships.

PROFOH PARTICIPATED AT GLOBAL CIVIL 7 (C7) SUMMIT

PROFOH participated at the global Civil7 (C7) Summit, which was held in April, Japan, prior to the C7 Summit, a 10-member delegation consisting of C7 Steering Committee members and Working Group coordinators visited the Prime Minister's Office and handed the C7 policy proposal (Communiqué) to Prime Minister Fumio Kishida, who will be chair the G7 Hiroshima Summit. PM Kishida stated that "It is important to transcend the boundaries between the public and private sectors in tackling international issues, and that civil society is particularly important in leading the way toward the achievement of SDGs – a society in which no one is left behind" and that "We appreciate the policy proposals of citizens and will confirm them for use in discussions at the G7 summit. The take home of the summit was the promised of Japan collaboration with other G7 countries, partner countries and organizations, we will address global challenges such as climate change, global economy, humanitarian crisis, and food security with concrete solutions and actions. "On the second day of the C7 Summit (14th April), the breakout sessions were held with wide-ranging discussions on sector and cross-sectors issues such as global food system reform. Atsushi Mimura, Director-General of the International Bureau of the Ministry of Finance, was at the stage as a representative of the Finance Track and engaged in heated discussions with civil society representatives on issues such as debt in developing countries, development finance.

GLOBAL HAND WASHING DAY

PROFOH is a member of the United Nations Water Mandate headquartered in Sweden thus have participated in several activities of the organization. Water Mandate is working round the clock to ensure effective Water governance and global access to millions of people its ironic that water covers over 70% of earth surface, yet nearly a billion people do not have access to this most important liquid to human. PROFOH is also part of the Global Hand washing initiative, a global advocacy day dedicated to celebrating and advocating for handwashing with soap as an effective, affordable way to prevent diseases. Celebrated every October 15, it is an opportunity to design, test, and replicate creative ways to encourage people to wash their hands with soap at critical times. Post-COVID-19, hand washing has been relaxed in most communities Global hand washing Day provided a platform to not only raise awareness, but to also build commitment toward hand hygiene for all, in accordance with the WHO/UNICEF-led Hand Hygiene for All Global Initiative. Global hand washing Day called for strengthening the institutional and policy environment to drive progress for hand hygiene, ensuring the availability of hand hygiene facilities and supplies, and drawing on evidence-based behavior change approaches to encourage sustained hand hygiene practices. Good hand hygiene is a highly cost-effective public health measure, and a cornerstone of safe and effective health care. It is important in protecting against a range of diseases, It is also critical to combatting antimicrobial resistance (AMR). As part of Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) and water, sanitation and hygiene (WASH) efforts. <https://wateractionhub.org/organizations/65/d/professionals-for-humanity-profoh/>

WORLD PATIENT SAFETY DAY:

As part of organization efforts to celebrate this and her partners are very pleased to join the World Health Organization (WHO) to mark World Patient Safety Day. No one should suffer harm when seeking medical care. Yet, globally, more than 3 million deaths are linked to unsafe care each year. On 17 September, we observe World Patient Safety Day. This year WHO is focusing on the crucial roles of patients, families, and caregivers in healthcare safety .Evidence shows that when patients are treated as partners in their care, significant gains are made in safety. Patient and family engagement is a pivotal strategy to advance safety in healthcare. As users of the healthcare system with first-hand experience of the entire patient journey, the perspectives of patients, families and caregivers are invaluable in improving patient safety.

The impact of meaningful patient engagement is remarkable, with studies showing a potential reduction in the burden of harm by up to 15%, saving countless lives and billions of dollars each year. Therefore, patient and family engagement has been embedded as a fundamental principle in the World Health Assembly resolution (WHA72.6) on Global action on patient safety and in the Global Patient Safety Action Plan 2021-2030. The day aims to influence stakeholders including patients, families, policymakers, health care leaders, health workers and patient organizations to work collaboratively towards co-designing health care policies and safety interventions that truly reflect the needs and preferences of patients, ultimately enhancing healthcare safety globally. As an organization, PROFOH commitment to our patient's safety has remain unshaken for 25 years as evidenced with thousands of surgeries performed and more than a million outpatient cases.

PROFOH OFFICIALLY ENDORSED THE UN TIMELY WARNING OF LIFE- CRITICAL EMERGENCIES:

PROFOH was pleased for the official endorsements as the "Timely warning of life-critical emergencies is essential to public communication services" for the United Nations. Institutions, government agencies, NGOs, and companies involved in emergency alerting were invited to endorse including this assertion in the Global Digital Compact. The occasion was the commemoration of the 75th anniversary of the United Nations, over 1 million voices from around the world, from governments, civil society organizations, businesses, academics, technical experts, and individuals, including youth, shared their views on priorities that the United Nations and international community should consider in looking to the future. Following these consultations, the UN Secretary-General, António Guterres, declared by saying "Looking to the future, two seismic shifts will shape the 21st century: the climate crisis, and digital transformation." United Nations Member States adopted a Declaration on the Commemoration of the Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of the United Nations (A/RES/75/1) which contains this pledge: "We will improve digital cooperation. Digital technologies have profoundly transformed society." That was exactly what gave birth to the UN Global Digital Compact. The deliberations of the Global Digital Compact, will take place in 2024 as the Summit of the Future. PROFOH endorsement is shown at <https://gdc-ews.s3.amazonaws.com/index.html>

UNIVERSAL HEALTH COVERAGE DAY:

12 December 2012, the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) unanimously endorsed a resolution urging countries to accelerate progress toward universal health coverage (UHC) as an essential priority for international development .In 2014, the Universal Health Coverage Coalition started celebrating 12 December as UHC Day, to commemorate the date on which the UN General Assembly officially recognized the importance of UHC. Since then, the day has become the annual rallying point for the global movement for Health for All. In 2017, the UNGA proclaimed 12 December as International Universal Health Coverage Day (UHC Day) by resolution, making it an official UN-designated day.

In doing so, they committed to ensuring that by 2030 everyone in their country will receive all the quality health services they need without suffering financial hardship. Recognizing the need for greater collaboration and harmonization across health stakeholders and programmes, the Coalition of Partnerships for UHC and Global Health unites health leaders and advocates in a common goal to align advocacy and accountability efforts to achieve UHC and advance the SDGs. On UCH day, PROFOH raised awareness of the need for strong and resilient health systems and universal health coverage. Each year on 12.12, UHC advocates raise their voices to share the stories of the millions of people worldwide still waiting for health, to call on leaders to make bigger and smarter investments in health, and to remind the world that Health for All is a human right and an imperative to create equitable and resilient societies.

UHC Leaves No One Behind - Let's work together towards good health and well-being for all. PROFOH conducted hospital visitations and assessment of patients and had conduct some training for non-clinical staff of the hospitals visited. 15%, saving countless lives and billions of dollars each year. In summaryfor 2023, we three trips were made to Nigeria, performing 125 surgeries. MMI has donated numerous medical supplies and have accumulated a 20-foot container of medical and dental supplies to Mercy Hospital in Kaduna and that will be ship soon

UNITED STATES: PROFOH @ THE UNITED NATIONS HIGH- LEVEL MEETINGS ON UHC

In September, the UN General Assembly hosted three High-Level Meetings on health the highest number ever. Here, world leaders made a historic commitment for greater collaboration, governance and investment to prevent, prepare for and respond to future pandemics. During the High-Level Meetings, a new Political Declaration was agreed on universal health coverage to mobilize actions to meet the 2030 target of access to quality essential health-care services for all using the primary health care approach. A new Political Declaration on ending tuberculosis was also signed with ambitious new targets for the next 5 years to advance global efforts towards ending the TB epidemic. According to WHO and World Bank report, 'Leaving no one behind' is a central promise of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, which recognizes health as a fundamental human right. The best way to fulfil this promise is through universal health coverage (UHC), which means that all people – no matter who they are or where they live – can receive quality health services, when and where they are needed, without incurring financial hardship. Achieving UHC is no easy feat, but with concrete and coordinated actions, countries and organizations like PROFOH can create the conditions in which the right to health is ensured, upheld, and respected for everyone.

Based on the most up-to-date data, this report shows that as of 2021, about half the world's population – 4.5 billion people – was not covered by essential health services, including 344 million people living in extreme poverty. The report stated that reaching the goal of UHC by 2030 requires substantial public sector investment and accelerated action by governments and partners, building on solid evidence and reorienting health systems to a primary health care approach, to advance equity in both the delivery of essential health services and financial protection. According to PROFOH head of Delegation, Dr. Omo Izedonmwen lots of emphasis was placed on Data Collection and above all, Out Of Pocket (OOP) approach is mitigating against UCH. In effect, OOP health spending comprises medicines and health products; outpatient and inpatient care services, including dental care; diagnostic and laboratory services; and emergency transportation and rescue services. Medicines include over-the-counter medicines and outpatient prescribed medicines. Health products include masks and other prevention and protective devices, medical diagnostic products and assistive products such as glasses, hearing aids, crutches, etc.

EDUCATION

SIERRA LEONE: PROFOH EDUCATION MISSION AND SUPPORT FOR VULNERABLE KIDS

Photo: PROFOH Education mission led by Lasana Kodeh in Mongo, Falaba district in Sierra Leone

PROFOH is a member of several international groups promoting and advancing quality education globally, including International Network for Education in Emergencies, which has inspired our education interventions during our medical missions, or stand-alone Education mission or Education Emergency Interventions including the provision of several scholarships, writing desks to public schools. At PROFOH, we believe that Education is the most powerful tool to improve individual lives and societies as a whole, and deliver on the promises outlined in the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. It is important in times of peace, but even more crucial during crises. However, amidst armed conflicts, climate-induced disasters and forced displacement, education is often the first service suspended and the last to be restored. This year, we conducted several educational interventions in Uganda, Nepal, Nigeria and Sierra Leone. The Uganda and Sierra Leone interventions stand out due to the fact that Nigeria and Nepal have enjoyed our interventions in the past.

With our interventions PROFOH presence is now visible in Sierra Leone and Uganda. Country Representative Lasana Kodeh and also the Executive Director MOFA Sierra Leone took the EDUCATION mission with great dedication. The mission took place at Ansarul Islamic Primary School in Mongo, in Falaba District of Sierra Leone, closer to Guinea Conakry than Freetown the Capital City of Sierra Leone.

In responding to the needs in crisis-affected areas, it is critically important to ensure spread globally. For this reason, PROFOH in long-established designed interventions settings, for situations where children and adolescents have had their education disrupted as a result of forced internal displacement and/or destruction of their schools in their villages and towns, By adoption of this strategy, we are paving the way to reach even more of the world's 224 million crisis-affected girls and boys who urgently need the protection, opportunity and hope of quality education.

Female Education Project is still running, a simple project but very impactful, girls in rural communities are very disadvantaged due to their monthly menstrual period –they skip classes for weeks, some do during their examination period, and some have suffered high-level infection as a result of using pieces of rags, lots of these young women we have treated during PROFOH medical missions. PROFOH distribution of washable sanitary towels pads project in schools in Bwari, FCT-Abuja Nigeria was magical, the outcome was amazing, Girls Academic performances increase by almost 52%. The unique aspect of our towels –they are clinically tested and washable and could be reusable for three years

ENVIRONMENT

UNITED ARAB EMIRATES: PROFOH PARTICIPATED AT COP 28

PROFOH dedication to ensure that climate and the provision of quality health care go hand in hand remain very strong, placing health at the heart of climate action. This year, we are proud to have participated at UN Climate Change Conference - United Arab Emirates 30 Nov - 12 Dec 2023. The global Conference have 195 represented states 97,372 registered participants to date 1,293 media organizations. Mansur Arif Shamsi, PROFOH United Arab Emirates, Country Director UAE and , represented our organization at this year event. He is also a member of the PROFO's Global Advisory Board and his PROFOH accreditations covers the GCC. With global temperatures hitting record highs, and extreme weather events affecting people medically and otherwise across the globe, this year's UN climate change conference, COP28, is a pivotal opportunity to correct course and accelerate action to tackle public health crisis. In an historic first, the organizers of COP28 hosted a dedicated health day in response to the climate-related health crisis affecting at least 3.5 billion people – nearly half of the global population. Extreme heat, weather events and air pollution caused millions of deaths in 2023, putting enormous pressure on health systems and workforce.

A new COP28 UAE Declaration on Climate and Health was signed by over 130 countries at the UN Climate Conference. The Declaration advocates for a rapid increase in political and financial commitments, and concrete action to protect people from the devastating health impacts of the climate crisis. In the lead-up to COP28, WHO, together with global health partners, mobilized the signatures of over 40 million health professionals calling for bold health and climate action at the Conference. WHO also released an Operational framework for building climate-resilient and low carbon health systems as a blueprint for a future-proof and sustainable health sector in an ever- changing climate. The Conference also discussed others pressing issues to humanity such as Health, Food, Agriculture and Water Day saw key announcements on global water scarcity and food security, as countries mobilized behind the conference Declaration on Agriculture, Food Systems and Climate Action (the Declaration), now endorsed by 152 countries, and the Water Action Agenda to keep climatically 1.5 degrees temperature within reach.

Above all, Maria is very deep in positive thoughts, gifted in both knowledge and imagination, and highly educated.

UNITED STATES: PROFOH PARTICIPATED AT THE UNITED NATIONS COSP/10 ATLANTA.

Photo: PROFOH representatives led by Advisory board member Camille Bradshaw and Donmale Gbaanador

PROFOH is a ranking partner of the UNODC, we have attended similar conferences in the past, Morocco, Austria, etc. This year, Camille Bradshaw, PROFOH Advisory Board and ranking member PROFOH United States and Donmale Gbaanador, one of our organization Legal Advisers in the United States attended the historic event. Both women reported the event was fantastic and very rewarding for PROFOH. According to facts from the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) estimates that 45 percent of global citizens believe the health sector is corrupt or very corrupt. Approximately $455 billion of the $7.35 trillion spent on health care annually worldwide lost each year to fraud and corruption. Public spending for health care is inefficient in countries with poor governance, on the other hand, good governance is vital for national healthcare systems to work optimally. In fact, the quality of governance is a key mediator for whether public spending on health care influences health outcomes positively. Many strategies exist for reducing corruption and making environments less conducive to malpractice, including remunerating healthcare workers adequately, adequately financing the public healthcare system, ensuring social accountability, and strengthening institutions outside the healthcare sector. Global healthcare expenditures total $7.35 trillion each year, much of which comes from out-of-pocket (OOP) payments by families and insurance reimbursements. Corruption is a complex and multifaceted challenge. Offenses range from smaller-scale acts by health care providers who demand bribes or "informal payments" to larger-scale acts at the ministerial or hospital administrator level when individuals in powersiphon money or redirect resources away from those who need it for their personal benefit.

MISSION:

...We support weak and compromised communities globally to overcome Health, Education, Safe drinking water and social challenges arising from ill health, poverty, and man-made or natural disasters. This work substantially supports men, women and children through critical interventions including medicine, safe water, education, and necessary policies around them.

VISION:

Is the elevation of the human race through medical and social interventions and access to high-quality health care by vulnerable populations in all cultures throughout the world.

CALENDAR 2024

PROPOSED ACTIVITIES/MISSIONS:

The 77th World Health Assembly in May 2024, PROFOH and selected organizations will be there as Observers, countries will consider a new international agreement known as the pandemic accord. The purpose of the accord is to prevent a repeat of the devastating health and social impacts as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic in the event of a future pandemic.

In September 2024 there will be a UN General Assembly High-Level meeting on Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR), one of the top global public health threats. AMR makes infections harder to treat and increases the risk of severe illnesses and death. Countries will be urged to make bold commitments to tackle this threat, accelerate action, and work towards internationally agreed targets.
